Katherine earned her BA in Psychology at the University of Alberta, her MA in Criminology at the University of Ottawa, and her PhD in Criminology at Simon Fraser University (SFU). She began her Postdoctoral Fellowship with the Canadian Observatory on the Justice System's Response to Intimate Partner Violence in 2012, and was renewed for 2013. Her postdoctoral research focuses on the justice system's response to intimate partner violence against women with serious mental health concerns. She is working with Dr. Margaret Jackson at the FREDA Centre for Research on Violence Against Women and Children, at SFU, and Dr. Myrna Dawson in the Centre for the Study of Social and Legal Responses to Violence at the University of Guelph. Katherine is Associate Director of the FREDA Centre, and Adjunct Professor in the School of Criminology, at SFU.
